

I am looking for something similar to the above with a better flow. I would like to see some snow added to the logo if it looks good. Possibly draped over his trunk and or on his head and over the letters. The Mammoth can be redrawn with larger ears and color ideas are open but the plows that he is going on are red, orange, green and yellow.

I am open to different fonts but they should be very bold and winter themed if possible.

I want to be able to print die-cut stickers so a complete flowing border around everything may be a good idea.
