Current landscape can be confusing

The legal definition of 'reasonable' care is ambiguous, and decided on a case-by-case basis. For this reason, schools need to ensure staff have a framework and guidelines that ensure best-practice, protecting the wellbeing of students and reputation of school.

Consent2Go enables the school to meet its duty of care

What is Consent?

Consent2Go is a twofold process:

1. Consent from leadership that the staff member has sufficiently completed planning and risk mitigation to safely conduct the event.
2. Consent from parents that they are aware their child will be attending an activity, while providing you the most up-to-date information on the students attending.

Parents and Consent2Go

Consent2Go has grown organically by word of mouth, and most of our recommendations come from parents.

Parents enjoy the convenience of using Consent2Go, which allows them to seamlessly update and manage their child's record, and provide consent for an excursion in less than 25 seconds.

Consent2Go provides technical and user support to staff and parents.

Why is our system right for your school

Accurate Data

A decision is only as good as the information it is based upon. While bad data limits a school's ability to manage risk, quality data empowers schools to manage the care and wellbeing of students, enhance communication within the school community, and gives staff confidence to conduct activities.

Consent2Go guarantees quality data, ensuring best practice.

Best Practice Processes

While best practice is seen as the most prudent or effective course of action, effective processes without quality information cannot be considered prudent or effective.

Consent2Go guarantees data-driven industry best practice for student care and event management.
