

I am very happy with the adjustments. I made one new change that I just thought of which is to add a tail to the bull. I grabbed something off the internet as an example, and it looks decent. I think if you could replicate that with style to match the work you've already done, I will be happy with what you come up with.

Lastly, I assume I can make whatever changes I want to the colors once I own the files? I like the colors you selected, but I might want to play with options over time. I assume I can use Microsoft Paint to adjust the master logo files as I like?

Other than this, I will be ready to finalize. Thanks!
