DESIGN GARAGE

About Us

We believe that design is an opportunity and a responsibility to humanity. How we shape the built environment affects our understanding of what it means to relate with people and live fruitfully in our environment. We therefore work with whatever constraints and opportunities presented during project execution to inspire humanity through solutions that enrich the human experience.

How we work

We aim to bring about innovative and creative solutions in design while meeting the spatial and functional needs of our clients. Our strength lies in our talent pool's extended experience and combined independent service in the fields of local and international design and project management, spanning over 14 years. This comes to fruition by translating clients' aspirations into tailored and enduring solutions by drawing from a diverse team of highly skilled professionals and applying best practices.

What we offer

With our close association with other consultants in the industry, clients get an extended range of services within the full scope of architecture and engineering from inception to completion. Our partnerships with industry leading civil-structural and service engineers, surveyors, building cost consultants, and landscape specialists offer our clients a one-stop solution for bespoke construction consultancy.
