The difference is our engineering.

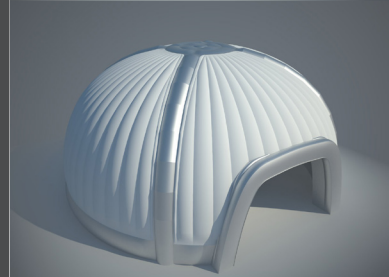

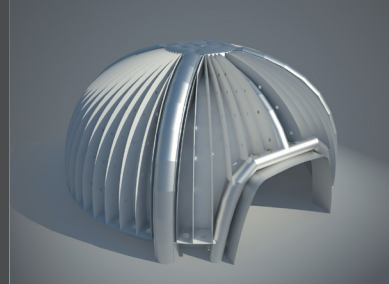

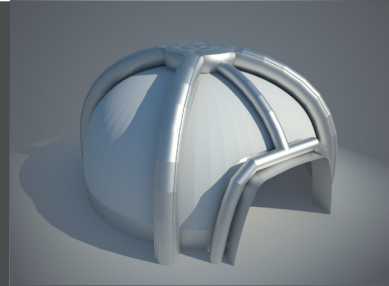

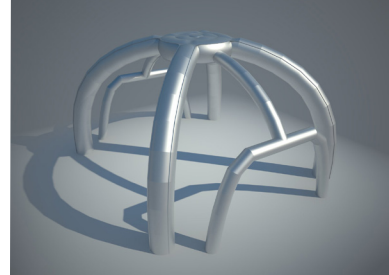

Stronger, higher wind rated structures to 55MPH

Evolution Dome structures are the only range of inflatable event structures to truly incorporate structural engineering. They meet EU and BS Standards for temporary event structures providing extra safety and security for the end user.

The engineering and manufacture of the Evolution Dome range, includes air beam technology that provide stronger, high wind rated structures. This means that the entire Evolution Dome range can be used in all weather conditions and we can provide engineering reports to support this statement. The sealed air beam design also means that Evolution Domes Structures will not collapse in the event of a power failure.

The Evolution Dome range of inflatable structures have been used successfully in gale force conditions in many different countries around the globe, providing high class, strong, temporary event venues.

Beautifully designed and quick to install, the Evolution Dome range is a truly modular system allowing structures to be joined seamlessly, creating a multi-room environment.

The cover sits on top of the structure and can be fully printed with any designs, or logos and colours. The entire surface can be printed meaning you can have your designs on the roof as well as sides of the structure.

Full Print - When purchasing a structure you have the option to have print added permanently, either design or branding.
