Medical Direction and Oversight

Medical direction for our clients encompass all aspects of physician oversight for medical care provided in the pre-hospital setting. Direct medical oversight, or online medical direction, involves real-time communications with EMS providers/agents that are caring for our principal and their loved ones. This direction and oversight consists of varying levels of care and capabilities to the agents. This is usually client based on actual needs.

Rescor Group provides basic Medical Direction to ALL of our clients at no additional charge. The features of this direction and oversight will vary depending on client preference, need, and skill level required for the detail.

Because every Rescor agent is medically trained to some level, our medical direction is required to allow our agents to provide the adequate level of care to our valued clients.

Rescor Medical Director

Rescor Group

• Ideally located in the Bay Area

- Less overhead allows us to put money back into agents through compensation and training
- Agents and clients have a sense of pride
- Higher standards and level of professionalism
- Better quality through constant “relative” training

Competition

• Not local to the Bay Area

- Taken over by larger corporations where agent development isn't a priority
- Lacks essential training and scalability
- Reactive instead of proactive
- Extremely high turnover rates

Proposal Notes

- The “3” EP Agents are the key to success. Those are the team leads for this detail. They will be required to cover down on the residence and hold those agents accountable as much as possible or fill in if someone is sick. Having 3 EP Agents allows for local support, travel and training.
- Schedules have been designed so RST can still cover down in a driver role capacity.
- Rescor’s overhead will cover “1” vehicle for the Charlie 1 position.
- Rescor’s overhead will cover all flights and lodging for Option B.
- Rescor’s overhead will cover Medical Direction 3 oversight.
- Rescor’s overhead will cover a dedicated Protective Intelligence Analyst
- Option C is only significantly more because of California Overtime rates. This was specifically designed by Allied (formerly AS) as it is the most profitable option to a vendor.
