

A dramatic, low-key photograph of two people in a boxing ring. They are silhouetted against a very bright, central light source, possibly a window or a powerful lamp, which creates a strong lens flare and illuminates the air in the ring. The person on the left is in a wide, ready stance with hands up. The person on the right is also in a fighting stance, slightly more forward. The background shows the ropes of the boxing ring and some equipment hanging on the walls, all in deep shadow.

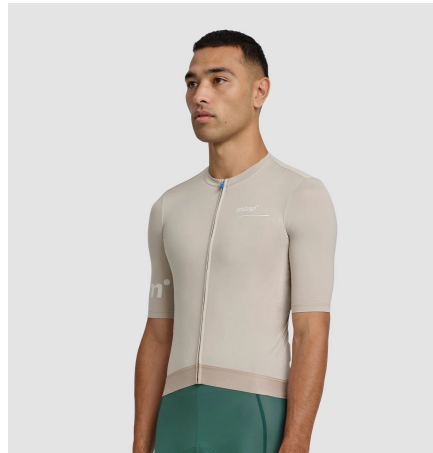

One/Out

“Way to say I will knock you out in one hit or, meaning someone wants to fight.”
