

UNIFI COACHING

Media Kit

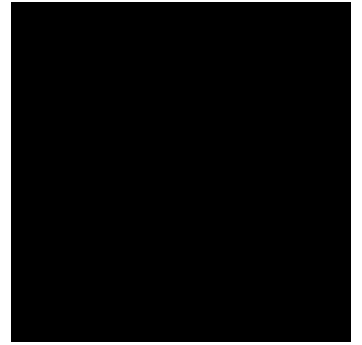

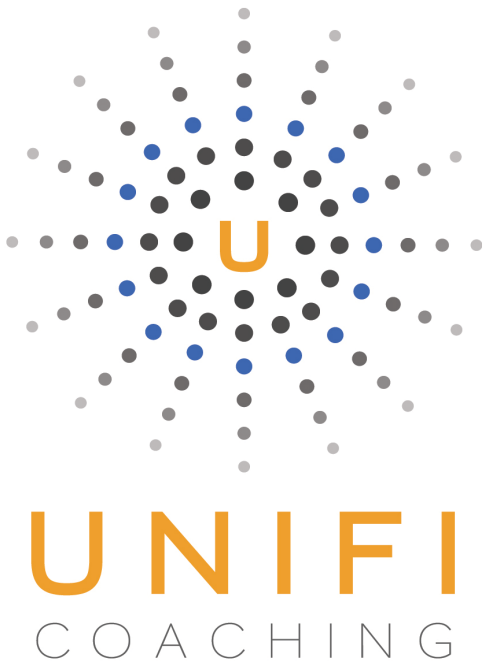

+ About Christin

Christin Cardone McClave is a professional, certified co-active leadership coach and founder of Unifi Coaching. She works with individuals, teams and families in business together to assist them in executing their values. Christin's background comes from working in various management positions at Johnson & Johnson as well as growing up in her own a family business as a 3rd generation business owner. In her experience at J&J, she led project teams in Information Technology, Web & e-Commerce Marketing and Market Research; worked in a J&J-sponsored eBusiness Start-up, juggling various functional roles, and ultimately onto the Pharmaceutical and Consumer Products M&A Team.

Currently, she coaches leaders in business and life transitions and helps them discover their strengths, blind spots, biases and future vision for themselves. She works with business teams, non-profit organizations and individuals who all commonly share the value of learning and improving on high-performance and becoming more self-aware. Ultimately, this leads to better results in life, relationships and in business.

Christin received her professional coaching certification at The Coaches Training Institute. She is a member of the International Coach Federation and adheres to the ICF Code of Ethics. Christin completed an International Science in Management Master's degree at Boston University's Brussels, Belgium, program and earned her global business undergraduate degree at the University of Alabama.

Speaking Topics

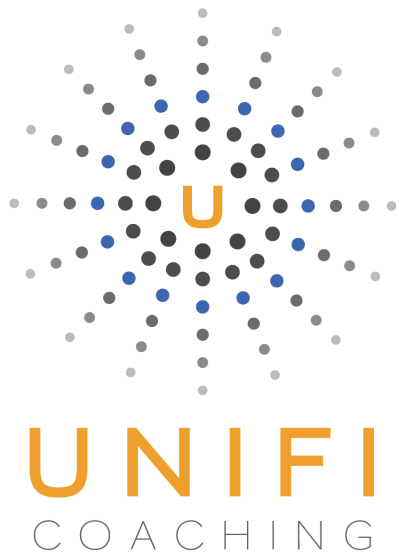

Owning your Life: Choosing the Family Business for yourself

Personal Leadership Strategies for the Next Gen

Bridging Generations: Getting family to talk about the important stuff

Managing the Millennials in your Family Business

Writing your own Story apart from the family business

we can't wait to hear from you

Hire Christin to Speak

Send your request to: info@unifi-coaching.com

www.unifi-coaching.com

www.familbizchick.com