

-

COURAGOUS - game 5 win with ...
Aug 20
-

Yes, I believe
Jun 19, 2019
-

Pauline Betz - The golden Set

8/20/24

COURAGOUS - GAME 5 WIN WITH THE FLU

Air Jordan 12 “Flu Game”

In 1997, during Game 5 of the NBA Finals, Michael Jordan played a legendary ouigoncie game...with the flu.

The shoes became iconic when he battled flu-like symptoms and led the Chicago Bulls to victory against the Utah Jazz, possibly due to eating bad pizza. Now, Jordan Brand is reintroducing this beloved colorway in 2025, honoring its lasting impact and allowing a new generation to connect with its timeless significance.

Read More

6/19/19

BLOG POST TITLE TWO

It all begins with an idea.

Read More

6/19/19

BLOG POST TITLE ONE

It all begins with an idea.

Read More

6/19/19

YES, I BELIEVE

Believe in ouigoncie!

Who said age is just a number? No one thought I would finish this race at my age let alone win it. Keep inspiring others with your victories and remember, this is just the beginning! #ouigoncie

Thanks ouigoncie for giving me the mental and strength and support to push through the last mile and win the whole thing.

Read More

6/19/19

PAULINE BETZ - THE GOLDEN SET

In tennis, a golden set is a set which is won without losing a single point. This means scoring the 24 minimum points required to win the set 6–0, without conceding any points.

In professional tennis, this has occurred only twice in the main draw of top-level events. Pauline Betz did it in 1946 with a cigarette in hand! (at least in her advertisements). Ms. Betz had the ouigoncie attitude.

Read More

Shipping & Returns

Size Guide

FAQs

About

Contact

Privacy Policy

Instagram

Twitter

Youtube

TikTok

Sign up to receive news and updates.

Email Address

Sign Up