

LOGO ONLY

The standalone symbol may be used when the brand is already established in the environment or when space is highly limited. It must always retain its original proportions and should not be combined with unofficial elements.

