

WHERE WE WORK

B) Without solid local relationships, efficiencies, western technology and state of the art processes mean little. It is essential to have partners with a vast, genuine sphere of influence in their regions. Our excellent network of trustworthy, in-regions partners and relationships with highly placed contacts within the local government administration of the countries we operate in will prove valuable to timely and complete mission accomplishment.

Afghanistan & Central Asia

For a decade we provide critical, life-sustaining transportation and supply services that empower military and peace keeping forces to accomplish missions in challenging and austere environments in Afghanistan and Central Asia. Fidelis is our customer's solid link in a fragile supply chain of Petroleum Products throughout Central Asia. Today Fidelis is the largest supplier of fuel volumes to international organisations in Afghanistan. With a complex transportation network Fidelis has demonstrated its' capability of operating in a volatile environments with poor road networks. 31,000 full container loads/truck loads of dry cargo delivered on time and 350,000 MT of Petroleum Products sourced, transported and distributed in the last 36 months within the demanding confines of government contract and associated performance metrics speaks for itself.
