Why Justice Circles?

When people become aware that slavery still exists around the world, they are usually motivated to do something. However, many times they struggle to know what they can do to address the complex issue of modern day slavery. People often feel overwhelmed or paralyzed; the question we consistently hear people ask is “What Can I Do?” . . . A Justice Circle is a great place to start.

What is a Justice Circle?

A Justice Circle happens when a person takes an opportunity to influence their unique network of friends, family, neighbors, or peers with a message or action focused on Justice. When one person influences their circle of friends... and then their friends influence their circle of friends, it can have a ripple effect. The potential for Justice Circles to accelerate the movement to end slavery is exponential!

Examples of Impact to Justice Circles

- Terry organized a bake sale at her office to build awareness of human trafficking among her colleagues and to raise funds.
- Bob passed out information at the barber shop where he works to educate his clients.
- Cheryl invited a group of moms and daughters over her house to watch a movie. She facilitated a discussion and educated the moms and youth on the tactics of traffickers.
- Taylor organized a concert and outdoor festival to build awareness of human trafficking to group of young adults and also raised funds.
- A family sold MAP’s Justice Shop products at their family reunion to build awareness and raise funds.
- A teacher invited a MAP speaker into her classroom to educate her students about human trafficking.
- A group of friends served at a local organization and helped survivors learn a new skill of gardening.
