Interfaith Youth Forum

This year's theme "Merging Worlds"

All high school age faith groups are invited to come and join with 100 to 150 other high school students from various faith traditions to participate in the Interfaith Youth Council of Orange County's Annual Interfaith Youth Forum.

The purpose of this Interfaith Youth Forum is to bring together young people from diverse ethnic, cultural, and religious backgrounds, and to engage them in dialogue. True dialogue is a conversation on a common subject between two or more persons of differing points of view and/or backgrounds. This dialogue's purpose is two-fold: first, for each participant to learn from the other so that he or she can understand and grow; second, for each participating adult to learn from the young what they think, what their concerns are, and how they deal with differing points of view. We feel that this commitment to dialogue will affect relationships in a constructive way in our places of worship and in our community.

The forum itself involves having eight high school-age kids and one adult youth leader around each table to discuss a common question.

Our intent is to make each discussion group as religiously diverse as possible. Our youth leaders act as facilitators, but it is stressed that it is the students we want to hear from. The facilitator is there only to encourage the dialogue.

The forum will be followed by the Faith festival where families of the participants are welcomed to join. This event will include an Art gallery display of the teens, highlighting their expressions of faith
