

CHARLOTTE COMMUNITY ROOM RENTAL

Hi I'm Jason

When I moved to Charlotte, it was a major transition period in my life- I was right in the middle of a slew of major changes. I picked up a new job, I went to a new city, and I was starting over with friends and trying to start a new life.

One of the first things I did—I bought a big house. Yeah, big mistake: I was house rich but community poor.

Feeling somewhat alone, I started looking for like-minded people to share my home with. One room at a time, I filled the house with people in similar life transitions - there are a lot of us with similar schedules and a comparable outlook on life.

I didn't realize I was doing it at the time, but I turned my big mistake into something truly powerful. Many of my tenants have now become some of my best friends. More importantly, they've shown me how much you can flourish in the context of the right community.

If this room rental thing made such an impact on me, why not use it to help others? And that is exactly what I'm doing. Several houses later (and counting), We're building quite the community
