Meeting the needs of today's lifestyle consumer, with the world's best plant-based brands

INTRODUCTION

Who we are

Plant-Based Foods has established itself as Australia's national wholesale distributor and online retailer of high quality plant-based brands. Our experience in the plant-based arena covers hospitality and catering, retail and distribution, business consultancy, menu-planning and product development.

The company was launched in 2014 by Cale Drouin, a Queenslander with a special interest and expertise in plant-based foods. Cale had spent the previous four years growing a thriving vegan grocery store, café/restaurant, online shop and delivery company in Brisbane.

With his in-depth knowledge of the vegan food scene, hottest brands around the world and the growing demand for delicious, ethical, healthy plant-based options in Australia, he was well-equipped to make the jump from retailer and restaurant owner to distributor and plant-based foods consultant.

The team now includes four staff at the Queensland Head Office and four reps around the country, with further expansion in the pipeline.

INTRODUCTION

Why plant-based?

Plant-based eating is the biggest emerging food trend of our times, and projected to keep growing as people increasingly seek out options free from meat, dairy and eggs, for a wide range of reasons:

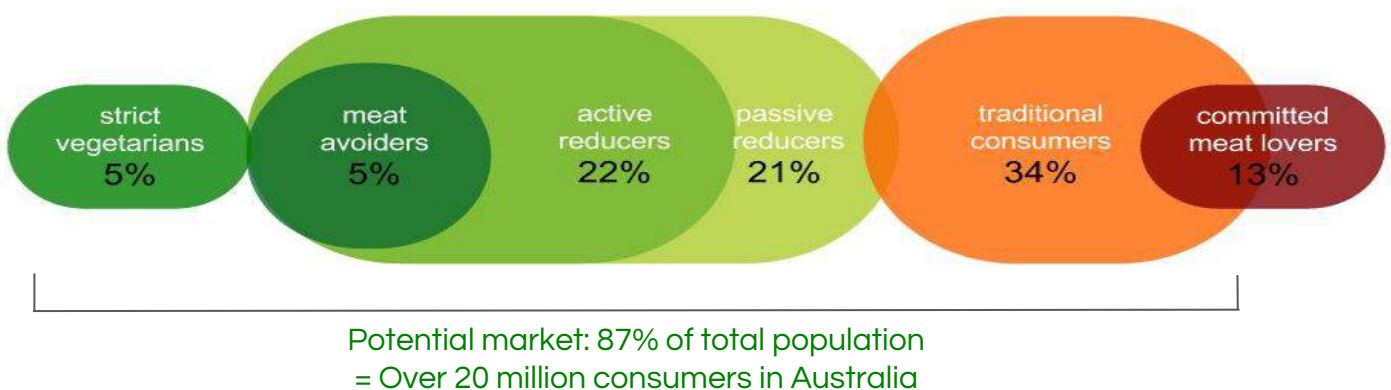

- Health and nutrition
- Food allergies and intolerances
- Environmental sustainability
- Global food equity
- Animal ethics
- Religious requirements

While Australia has a significant number of vegetarians and vegans (around 10% of the population according to Roy Morgan Research, 2013), a much broader range of consumers are also seeking plant-based options on a regular basis.

"We're always going to have a segment of the population that's vegan or vegetarian, but what seems to be growing the most rapidly are meat reducers. They're looking for ways to still get protein ... and feel that they're eating a quality sustaining meal but without the meat."

Target market:

INTRODUCTION

On the supply side, a wide range of fantastic products are now available, providing versatile, nutritious – and above all delicious – alternatives to animal products.

The time is ripe to get ahead of the plant-based curve to keep pace with growing demand in Australia.

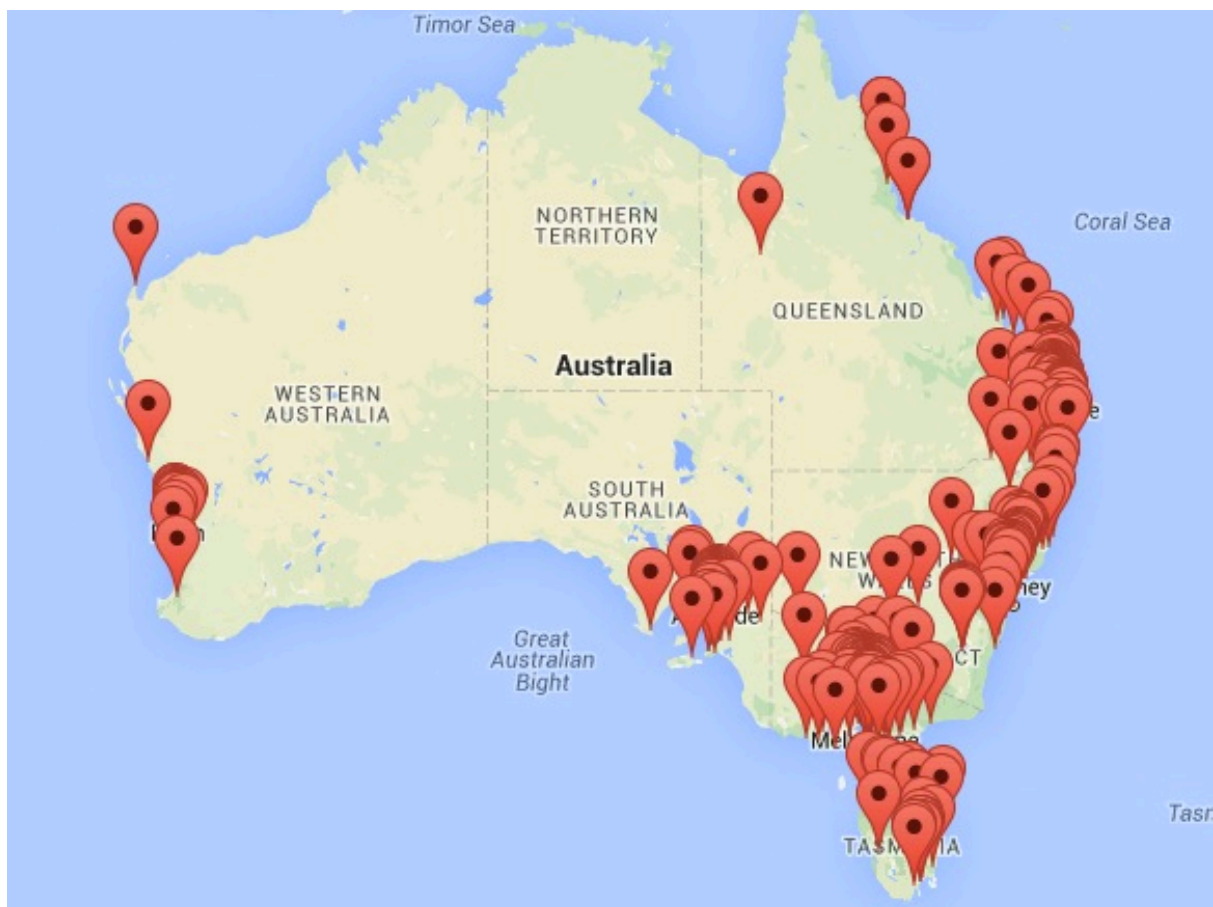

Plant-Based Foods specialise in sourcing the best brands globally and supplying them Australia-wide. Discover more about our brands in the next section.

[T]he growing ranks of novel protein sources and potential replacements appeal to the everyday consumer, foreshadowing a profoundly changed marketplace in which what was formerly 'alternative' could take over the mainstream.

Our retailer network so far:

OUR BRANDS

About our range

We delight in sourcing the best plant-based products from around the world. Our buying policy is based on extensive up-to-date knowledge of leading plant-based brands, and in-depth understanding of the plant-based scene in Australia.

Our entire range is:

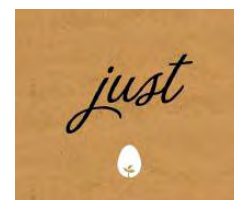

- 100% vegan & vegetarian
- Lactose-free
- Cholesterol free
- Low fat, with low or zero saturated fat
- Free from hormones & antibiotics
- Non-GM
- Palm oil free

Many lines are also:

- High protein
- Organic, or made with organic ingredients
- Gluten free
- Free from other common allergens
- Kosher certified

"Almost 60% of people [in Australia] now have at least one meat-free day every week, and last year, for the first time, there were more searches on taste.com.au for "vegetarian" than for "steak"."

EARTH SOURCE FOODS

Firm Tofu

Deliciously versatile – a revelation in stirfries, hotpots, thick sliced as a 'steak' or skewered for a shashlick-style kebab.

Silken Tofu

Fine and creamy, comes to life when spooned into soups, tossed through delicate stirfries or drizzled with marinade. Use for vegan mayo, smoothies or in a tempura batter.

Comes into its own with a good quality soy or tamari sauce. Slice it, bake it, fry it, steam it then gently add to dishes or hotpots when cooking or stirfries when serving.

EARTH SOURCE FOODS

Pressed Tofu

Hardy and robust, slice, cube, bake and fry to your heart's content. However you want to add it, feel free to experiment – it can take it.

Smoked Tofu

Naturally smoked using Australian woods, adds a distinctive campfire flavour to sandwiches, wraps, toast, stirfries and oven bakes.
