

I like the edging and stitching design on this. The paw at the bottom is nice, as is the crossed tools in the background.

I like some of these in that they have simple elements and small details (stars, stitching, sunburst, arrow) that make it more unique.

I like the silhouette of the deer over the leaf. Simple. Classic.

I like the old fashioned mountain lodge feel of this with the animal and the background.

I like the textured background of these logos. A bit flecked which makes it feel like wood or cloth. Also the icons on each and the vintage block lettering.

I like the texture of the background here. Makes it feel almost carved.

I like the crest divided into three parts with icons in each one. Also like the stripes included in some of the designs as an element. These have a National Park feel to them which I like a lot.
