Emma has significant experience with the property market both in New Zealand and internationally.

Emma builds long standing trusted relationships, advocates for her clients and strives for excellence in everything she does. She enters in to every engagement with an owners' mind-set in order to ensure the best outcome for her clients as she appreciates that the cost of delays are real.

As a parent of children who attend Maungawhau Primary School in Mt Eden, Emma prides herself on taking an active role in the community and understands the attractions of living in Central Auckland.

Emma's astute understanding of people and their individual needs initially lead her to a career in Education - with over a decade of teaching experience, Emma has held several senior management positions and served the community as a Board of Trustees and PTA representative.

Emma is approachable, energetic, confident and operates with a bias to action and results. If you want a professional and trusting consultant, then give Emma a call.
