

Clare Coburn

#courage #listening #creativity

Challenge, change and conflict are a natural part of life. When we greet them with courage, and listen to what they tell us, we grow in wisdom, resilience and creativity.

Clare Coburn is a coach, educator and mediator. She works with people ready to harvest the fruits of conflict and challenge and live life differently.

Consult with Clare to address challenges in your life, relationship, or within your group or organisation. Through listening, conversation and creative processes, you can discover what your challenges are asking of you and begin the process of transformation. With her experience in mediation, narrative processes, coaching and mentorship, Clare supports you to uncover unique and creative responses. Talk to Clare on 0422 019 970.
