Handcrafted in Canada

The Heartland Collection celebrates the complexities of nature by combining the non-linear "blue-stain" ribbon within each unique piece of wood with the clean lines and transparency of the synthetic-based Lucite.

Each piece of this line carries clean, rectangular lines and edges.

Each remains faithful to urban design yet showcases the natural warmth and softness of the wood hovering in the face of gravity.

The Mountain Pine Beetle pine beams used in our Heartland furniture is a natural artisan product - each piece naturally unique.

Checking, knots, and minor cupping are part of each piece's individualistic and inconsistent aesthetic appeal.

Peregrine is the leading manufacturer of high-end, custom Lucite furniture for both residential and commercial customers and has been since 1977.

In keeping with Peregrine's enduring philosophy, each piece of our signature furniture line is derived from the highest quality materials - selected, fabricated and hand-crafted in British Columbia, Canada.

The Heartland collection is a tribute to the 800 million cubic metres of Lodgepole Pine that have been killed by the Mountain Pine Beetle (MPB) in the Interior of British Columbia.

Each piece is named using words from Chinook Jargon.

Chinook Jargon was the unifying trade language of the Pacific Northwest during the 19th century. It was the working language in many of the towns and communities in British Columbia that have been most impacted by the devastation of the Mountain Pine Beetle.
