

Software Testing Outsourcing

Extend your testing team with on-demand technical expertise. Optimus' global delivery - local presence model provides quality assurance resources that work as part of your team to assist in testing applications on time and within budget.

Software products continue to advance, through new programming languages, platforms such as cloud computing and application delivery on mobile devices. As systems become more complex, how does an enterprise looking to provide the latest solutions provide high quality applications without testing becoming a bottleneck?

From fully outsourced testing services to strategy consulting and test automation, Optimus Information provides outsourced services that seamlessly work with your existing personnel and infrastructure, extending your resources to manage the need. The Optimus team has experience testing a wide variety of software, web and mobile platforms using the most common testing tools currently available.

Optimus Information helps you test application performance during development and in production. Here are some of our key services:

● Agile Testing

Testing services that seamlessly integrate outsourced testing into your Agile environment.

● Compatibility Testing

A full spectrum of compatibility testing including OS and device platform conflicts.

● Functional Testing

Testing for desktop software, mobile apps, embedded software, reports and more.

● Mobile Application Testing

Testing services for iOS, Android, Windows Phone and HTML5.

● Performance Testing

Load, stress, spike, configuration, isolation, cloud and other performance testing.

● Security Testing

Authentication, authorization, availability, confidentiality and other security testing.

● Test Automation

Code-driven, graphical user interface and various forms of performance test automation.

● Testing as a Service

Fully managed testing services from test strategy through planning and execution.

"Partnering with Optimus on the development of the FuturePay mobile app brought us tremendous insight and expertise. Their local account management and global team brought us the flexibility and scalability we needed. Optimus was great to work with and we would recommend them to any organization seeking a partner in mobile application development."

Trevor Wingert,
Director of Development & IT
RevenueWire

The Optimus Advantage

The Optimus Information model is designed to allocate the right mix of local and offshore resources in order to optimize expertise, speed and cost. We provide Outsourcing-as-a-Service (OaaS), the ability for development teams to quickly add specialty skills to a development team without incurring long-term costs. Our global team is made up of well-rounded experienced professionals, allowing us to work on complex solutions requiring diverse expertise. The result for our customers is the capability to far better manage resource capacities and outcomes.

We are focused on delivering high-quality software solutions with maximum transparency. As a scalable partner, Optimus can help during various stages of your software life cycle, as you need additional expertise or resources.

Technical Expertise

Optimus Information partners with leading technology vendors to provide our clients with the most current solutions in the marketplace.

Hybrid Delivery

With offices in N.A. and India, Optimus has the capability to design, develop, test, deploy and support complex systems wherever they are needed.

Enterprise Experience

Our background in enterprise solutions and technology products means we are focused on delivering high quality software.

Scalability

Optimus projects can scale from 160 hours to 1600 hours per month on short notice and bring a variety of expertise to the table.

ONSHORE

Account Managers
Project Managers
Business Analysts
Technical Architects
UI/UX Designers

HYBRID DELIVERY MODEL

OFFSHORE

Project Managers
Technical Leads Developers
Testers

Optimus' services are delivered using our hybrid delivery model of "global delivery – local presence." Our clients work together with a local project manager getting the benefit of "same room discussion" while receiving the cost benefits of a scalable offshore delivery team. Whether you need help with technical foundations or people to help you focus your user interface for web and mobile delivery, Optimus can provide technologists who can help you design and create modern software.

"Optimus worked closely with our team to test our mobile event platform from the Alpha release through to product launch. Optimus was successfully able to meet project challenges including understanding multiple frameworks, testing on multiple platforms and meeting aggressive timelines. We are happy with the number of platform specific issues Optimus was able to identify and would not hesitate to use their testing services in the future."

Larry Ng,
Director of Quality Assurance
QuickMobile

"A Seamless Extension of Your Team"

Phone: 604-736-4600 Email: sales@optimusinfo.com
Website: www.optimusinfo.com

optimus
information