"We brought Guy in on short notice to speak about trends, innovation and culture. He quickly adapted his message to our need and team, instantly adding value to the conversation. It was nice to work with someone that "got it" right away," Stacey Vogler, VP, Marketing and eBusiness at Assurant Solutions

"Guy is an absolute master when it comes to understanding both how to think about the future and how to apply it to corporate strategic challenges. To me, he represents the very best in how to cross that chasm"
Don Abraham, EVP, The Futures Company

"If you are looking to refine your company's strategic approach to project management or leadership skills, than look no further than Maria Matarelli and the team at Formula Ink. They are exceedingly knowledgeable and a pleasure to work with, and we have seen immediate results within our organization." Dan Sullivan, Director of Engagement-L Street Collaborative, LLC

"Maria pushes beyond what is done today to find new opportunities to improve. She challenges the other leaders to look beyond the current state and make change for improvement" Joanne Guennewig, President, Project Management Institutue, Chicagoland Chapter

At some point, every organization makes a choice:
A) Create the future others will have to follow,
OR
B) Follow in the future created by others
This program is for those who choose Option A.
