Welcome to our college

King's is a fantastic university that I followed for many years before I became its President and Principal in 2014. Since joining, I have had the privilege of meeting many young people beginning their university careers who are passionate about their chosen field, with a desire to shape the world we live in.

As a student at King's you will become part of our diverse community in the heart of London, where you will join a highly talented group of over 26,500 students from more than 150 countries worldwide. Ranked equal 19th in the world (2015–16 QS World University Rankings) and with 12 Nobel prize winners among our alumni, I hope you will find King's to be a stimulating and exciting place to study.

King's is an inspiring institution that leads the way in discovery and innovation through our students, academics and their cutting-edge research. As London's most central university, you will be ideally placed to benefit from everything that this vibrant city has to offer, thanks to our strong relationships with London's key cultural, political, legal and health institutions.

If you are curious about the world and want to make a difference, King's could be the perfect fit for you. I very much hope that you will join us for this important next step in your future career.
