

Agile consultancies for international development

OneOffTech provides institutions working in the international cooperation field (implementing agencies, local governmental and non-governmental institutions) with solutions (hardware, software and consultancy services) to better organize, manage and exchange their knowledge in form of data and information (knowledge management).

Agile

Efficient and flexible methodology for developing successful solutions with fun. Is based on iterative, measurable and verifiable small steps, with integrative and empowering involvement of all actors.

Services

Technology for international aid

Meaningful implementation and application of Digital Media, Software and Hardware with a sensibility for the world.

Organizational development

Agile and data-driven approach to accompany organizations into change processes.

Data and Knowledge Management

Needs assessment, organizational and requirement analysis for ICT-based support to knowledge processes in communities of practice.

Our Open Source tools

K-Box

Open Source web based document management system. This Software allows organizations and groups to flexibly manage their knowledge through documents and data. The files can be structured and access can be managed for groups of people or for specific persons.
