

Nay Restaurant

Originating within the Middle Eastern region, Nay is a wind-blown musical instrument, much similar to a flute, and dating back to almost 5000 years ago, this makes it one of the oldest musical instruments ever used, and thus figures prominently in Middle Eastern music even till today.

Nay Lebanese Restaurant is the child concept of Cedar Dining Services Management, bringing together the marriage of luscious and creative Lebanese cuisine, fine dining, and entertainment, aimed at making every visit a cherished and memorable experience.

Desired and sought out much in the Middle East and throughout the world, Mediterranean cuisine generally, and Lebanese dishes specifically, have always captured people's palettes and drawn patrons continuously to its kitchens. Lebanese cold starters and hot appetizers are prepared at Nay kitchens as home-made dishes, sought to please the eyes and water the tastes buds, only to prepare the guests for more delightful surprises from this globally popular Mediterranean country.

Nay Lebanese Restaurant's location in DIFC's Emirates Financial Towers allowed the opportunity of bringing to life the Sky Nay, which is the terrace area of Nay overlooking Burj Khalifa and all its surrounding area, giving the diners the requested ambiance and view to enjoy the Nay experience.
