

Shah Tawassuli, a young Hazara man from Afghanistan, has been illegally held captive in an Indonesian Detention Centre for more than four years. He is a Refugee and prisoner without any crime.

The Hazara are a ruthlessly persecuted people. Shah is alone in the world and bravely escaped his country to begin a new free life never expecting to be imprisoned and detained for 4 years.

An artist and photographer, Shah refuses to allow his creative nature to be imprisoned. He draws each day ! He draws sunny flowers and delicate fragile birds which sing of his freedom.

The only future for Shah is to be sponsored to a free country. It costs thousands. He is raising funds by selling his unique art.

Shah's daily drawings have become individual Greeting Cards and his beautiful cards are now for sale to fund his future.

Buy Shah's Greeting Cards to help him pay his way to freedom.
