

You care deeply about issues in society—homelessness, inequality, climate change—but you need additional tools to better understand how to tackle them.

You're ready and willing to learn because you know that merely talking about how awful things are isn't a very effective way to solve them.

You're also tired of the malicious politicization of societal issues and the toxic bickering between both sides of the political spectrum.

In Community Heroes, you'll learn why it's important to:

- Use the First Principles framework of thinking to prevent discussions about social change from becoming emotionally and politically charged;
- Understand why working on Wall Street might be a more effective way of achieving social impact than working for a nonprofit;
- Suspend your dreams of changing the world and instead strive to be a hero in your own community;
- Understand why the barriers to employment that disenfranchised people face are such powerful impediments to progress;
- And much more!

Whether you're a regular citizen looking to do good in your community or an AmeriCorps VISTA member about to start your year of service, Community Heroes is perfect for you if you want to make your community a better place.
