

UNIQUE OPPORTUNITY TO INVEST IN THE WORLD'S FIRST INNOVATIVE, GREEN TECHNOLOGY SET TO REVOLUTIONISE THE FERTILISER MANUFACTURING INDUSTRY

Veratin has developed Verigrow®, the world's first bio-degradable, innovative liquid fertiliser and soil improver, rich in amino acids and made from sheep's wool.

Veratin's green technology uses benign chemicals, is scalable and high yielding using a novel technology that deconstructs the complex and hierarchical structure of wool and turns it into a bio-available and bio-degradable liquid form.

The liberation of rich amino acids found in wool- the fundamental building blocks of growth- has enabled Veratin to develop additional products specifically to target markets in the cosmetic, nutraceutical and medical industries.

RECENT TRIALS INDICATED PLANTS TREATED WITH VERIGROW® GROW UP TO 5 TIMES BETTER THAN OTHER MARKET LEADING BRANDS.

AMINO ACIDS ARE SCIENTIFICALLY PROVEN TO IMPROVE SOIL AND PLAN HEALTH

THE COMPANY

Veratin was founded by world leading scientist, inventor and entrepreneur Dr Ramiz Boulos. Using his own hair, Dr Boulos discovered the novel way to deconstruct hierarchical and complex materials such as hair and wool. He later trialled his invention on home grown tomatoes and verified his findings through an independent research provider.

Recently, the Company announced it has commenced construction of its pilot manufacturing plant in O'Connor, Western Australia and is in discussions with 3 market leading manufacturers for wholesale opportunities to distribute Verigrow®

In May 2019, Veratin will commence large scale production to commercialise Verigrow® and will begin negotiations with several leading national hardware and garden retail distributors as well as a comprehensive direct to consumer marketing campaign.
