Our Mission

The Heart to Health Foundation was founded with the aim of helping rural and indigenous individuals in various parts of the world. The Foundation's vision is to see that every woman, man and child have access to basic medical care and treatment as well as fundamental knowledge in preventative care. There are many people living in regions of the world today who have limited or no access to health centers. Often, these individuals travel hours and in many instances days for basic care that often times can be averted with preventative care measures.

Partner with us

Creating a more comprehensive medical team of volunteers and resources both from the United States as well other countries and from local communities is a component of the organization's long term goals. We seek to recruit and empower each community so that they become more self-sufficient with health and wellness issues. Our hope is to achieve this through classroom teaching and hands-on learning. Needs assessments are conducted in each community visited to assess the overall health at each location with the help and guidance of local community members. These assessments will include but are not limited to data gathering, looking at the overall health status, the regional health issues, morbidity and mortality reports, resource availability and nutrition.

We would love for you to partner with us on our endeavors!

We welcome volunteers of all ages, abilities, and skill sets. If you are interested please contact us for more information.

Our Future

We are committed to investing in the health and welfare of our global community.

The Foundation will continue to expand work into other rural areas of both Central and South America. In addition, We are currently working on a partnership with a non-governmental organization in South Africa and hope to be expanding to this part of the globe in the near future.
