

I'd like a tattoo similar to the first one below, but it should be different and a half sleeve and chest tattoo – left side just above the elbow. I want to use black ink. The trees can be a bit less pronounced, perhaps some different types of trees. The river should be a bit wider in the beginning, perhaps coming from a lake, but I like how the river goes far and kind of fades away in the distance. There can be some hills before the mountains turn into mountains as to speak. I've provided a couple of other examples of a half sleeve tattoos with a similar motive which I like, but I'd like a realistic classic style tattoo, like the first example.

I want one of the clouds around the mountains to turn into the cloud/brain tattoo that I've given another example of – and that tattoo should be on my chest, over my heart as to speak.

I'd like two options – one with just a bear in the river instead of a deer with focus on the bear. Another option with a bear, a bear cub and a deer without horns (female deer). I've given an example of the bears further down, just in terms of shape, the bears should not have the filling that the example has...
