

Idea for Engaging arts logo. Because it often takes place as city revitalization and development it could be nice to have a city in it.

The art work I do is community based where many people are making small parts of a larger sculpture.

Maybe the design can have fingerprint textures or dripping paint

I love using the negative and positive space of this design.

I like the fact this shows the diversity of what's in side

Something like this might be good for renditions Gallery

I like the art and nature

Something like this might be good for Engaging arts

I like the fact I can tell she creates mosaics

Something like this might be good for Deborah

I like how this has a combination of information in the shape

I like how the paint strokes convey different information.
