HIRING A PROFESSIONAL

Hiring a professional painter is never an easy decision and one not to be taken lightly. Painting is a highly skilled trade and it takes considerable experience and expertise to obtain a high quality finish.

GOING GREEN

We can help you make smart decisions about creating a better environment and further minimizing any risk for your family and the spaces we live in. This can be achieved reducing the amount of VOCs (volatile organic compounds) by selecting the correct products.

VOCs = VOLATILE ORGANIC COMPOUNDS

VOCs are hazardous chemicals that are emitted from paints. This occurs even after the paint has dried; paints can continue to emit VOCs for several years after application. By using low VOC emitting paints, fewer chemicals are released than traditional paints. In choosing a zero VOC option, you will experience no odour after the paint has dried and will be helping improve air quality both inside and outside your home or business.

At Mat White Painting we choose to use these products and a green business approach because we care about our clients, workers and the overall environment. We can help make a difference, not just by changing the colour of your home or business but by giving you a better, safer environment in which to live and work.
