

CINNAMON

Franco Spice Company

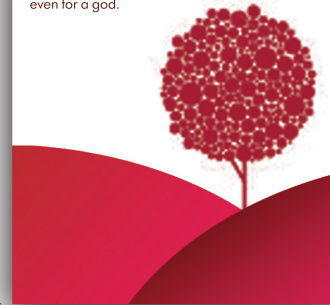

Cinnamon was so highly prized among ancient nations that it was regarded as a gift fit for monarchs and even for a god: a fine inscription records the gift of cinnamon and cassia to the temple of Apollo at Miletus.

CINNAMON

SPICE OF KINGS AND GODS

Cinnamon was so highly prized among ancient nations that it was regarded as a gift fit for monarchs and even for a god.

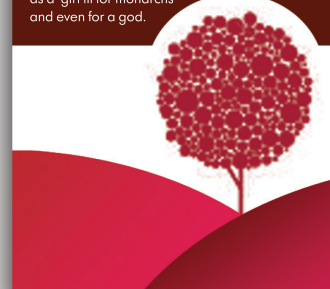

The last two could be fun ideas. Clean. Work with an illustration, obviously the cinnamon tree here is pixelated and only intended as a place holder. But I like the possibility of using a fun, powerful, silly slogan. 'Spice of Kings and Queens and Gods.' Depending on what the spice is. Have a following explanation of that. Boom. Lots of possibilities. This is only 2.5 ideas.
