Emily's approach...

Enjoy your special day!

Style & Approach

Emily can observe and capture your wedding day in the background, quickly and quietly taking photojournalistic pictures rather than directing it if you prefer. Or she can confidently play the role of Art Director and instruct beautiful poses. Either way, what is most important is that her clients are relaxed and having a really great time on their wedding day!

Formal Photography

Many of Emily's clients book her because of the easy-going approach she has. They can get on with having a great time on their day without worrying about formal photography. However, there are occasions when clients do want formal family pictures, and Emily is more than happy to accommodate their requests.

In order to keep the disruption on the day to a minimum, we recommend that Emily photographs no more than 6 groups, and a select number of the special couple.

Image Presentation

The most professional way of presenting clients with their photographs is in an elegantly designed photo book. Emily's clients only pay one fixed price for the photography, regardless of how many images taken. There are no hard sell procedures to go through, and the completed book is prepared within 2-6 weeks after the wedding day.

Time of Year

Signature pictures can be taken on overcast days or winter months. Don't worry if the sky is not perfectly blue. In the end, regardless of the weather – it's the timeless mood of the day that Emily strives to capture.

What client's are saying...

"Words can't express my thanks Em, I am absolutely in awe of my photos!"

"You've captured my wedding day perfectly; couldn't ask for anything more."

- Bel, Yarraville

"Thanks so much for photographing our special day, you did an amazing job and made everyone feel so comfortable. The amount of comments we have had on the photos so far has been wonderful and we couldn't be happier!"

- Belinda,
West Footscray
