Mateship – in its most useful and practical form

Miners' Promise was established in 2010 by people impacted by workplace fatalities, led by the inspiring Helen Fitzroy, who herself faced the emotional and financial hardship of unexpectedly losing her husband Steve in a workplace accident in 1991.

Overwhelmed by the outpouring from others with stories so similar to her own, and the obvious need for better support for individuals and their families –
Miners' Promise became a reality.

“Through the generosity of others, we strive to ease the burden on our families – no matter what their circumstances.”

Helen Fitzroy

Who are we?

Miners' Promise was first established to support employees of Australia's resources sector and their families in the event of an illness, injury or death.

This core purpose remains, however we also have a team of dedicated professionals at the ready to assist you with some of those everyday challenges.

Perhaps you need advice about finances, require legal assistance or need professional support? We can act as an advocacy and referral service with a range of screened professional service providers ready to address your concerns.

We are that single point of call when you aren't sure where else to turn.

As a charitable organisation our main source of income is generated from the generosity of the men and women within the Australian resources sector who regularly contribute to Miners' Promise.

We also gratefully accept financial and non-financial support from individuals and organisations through sponsorship and donations.

We exist to help our families and their loved ones – your partner, your kids, your parents, your mates, or perhaps you!

How to get involved?

Join our family now

Miners' Promise is open to all employees of companies either directly or indirectly involved with the Australian resources sector. You don't have to be working on a mine site, you just have to be employed within the sector to be part of the Miners' Promise family.

Fill out the application form attached to this brochure and mail it back to us ASAP to join. If you prefer to join online, visit www.minerspromise.org.au.

When you join, Miners' Promise pledges to assist not just you, but also your immediate family, because we believe in the importance of the family unit and everyone within it.

You will receive acknowledgement on receipt of your application and will remain an active participant in Miners' Promise for as long as you remain a financial contributor.

Employers

Include contributions as part of your employee package. Boost your employer of choice status, help fulfil your corporate social responsibility, and demonstrate, from a practical perspective, that you care for your people and their families.

By offering the benefits of our organisation to your employees and their families you are providing them with peace of mind and the added protection of the Miners' Promise family.

Corporate participation also brings with it additional benefits such as direct access to our 24/7 HOTLINE and the latest news and thinking created through our established corporate and government networks.

Make a donation

Help us help other families by making a financial donation to Miners' Promise, or provide your support 'in kind'.

Miners' Promise is a registered charity and welcomes individual and corporate donations of any size and frequency.

All donations and contributions are deposited into a family welfare account, which is used exclusively for the needs of our families. No other expenses incurred by the organisation are deducted from this fund, so you can rest assured that your contribution is assisting, or will assist one of our families when they need it most.

Complete our donation form attached to this brochure or donate online at www.minerspromise.org.au

Become an ambassador

As a Miners' Promise ambassador, you can help promote our purpose on site or within your local community.

Call us now on 1300 124 014 to register your interest.

Workplace Giving

Workplace Giving allows employees to make regular donations from their pay to Miners' Promise. This provides us with steady regular income. More importantly your support goes directly to assisting families in times of need.

In addition many employers match donations given to charities by their employees – find out if your company is interested.

Donation Helmets

You can also show your support for Miners' Promise and collect donations on our behalf with a Donation Helmet. The helmets come with a security chain and unique identification number.

To find out more or to get a donations helmet contact our office on 1300 124 014.

Tax Deductible

Your ongoing financial contribution or donations are both tax deductible.

Contact us now to find out how you can become part of the Miners' Promise family by becoming an ambassador, making a regular donation or promoting us in your workplace.

Miners' Promise is an extension of your family – we're looking out for you.

One of our families tells their story

“My whole life was upturned on the 7th of July, 2011 at 5:20am. I heard knocking at the front door and my immediate thought was that Jordan had forgotten to take his keys to night shift again! I stormed to the front door, annoyed Jordan had gotten me out of bed so early, only to open the door to two policemen who told me Jordan was involved in an accident at work and that he was dead.

“Representatives from Jordan’s work were there too, asking who they could call for me and what they could do; telling me that they had one of the best counsellors on the first flight from Perth that morning to comfort me.

“I spoke with this highly anticipated counsellor that morning, who seemed so detached, disinterested and unsure. She didn’t have answers to my practical questions. The representatives from Jordan’s work were unable to tell me where Jordan was, even where his belongings were. That first day was full of a deep sadness, shock and unexpected chaos. I felt alone, and all the people sent to help me on that day were all but useless.

Kelly and Jordan Marriott-Statham

"The second day, I went to meet the CEO of Jordan's company and was introduced to Cassandra from Miners' Promise. Cassandra was the first person sent to me that knew the processes, knew what needed to happen and was there solely for me. I didn't want to sit with a counsellor and talk through everything at that stage - I wasn't ready. I needed practical help, to organise the funeral, help me with my finances, book flights, get photos onto the right devices for the services and coordinate my family. Cassie came in that second day and took everything in her stride, was able to tell me what the next step was that I needed to take and provided me with the means to do it.

"The practical help was amazingly therapeutic, and helped start the mental process of saying goodbye to my husband. Cassie even arranged and conducted the memorial service held in Port Hedland for all his work colleagues and friends who couldn't make it back to NSW for the funeral. She liaised with the coroner and was able to keep me informed about where Jordan was, what flight he would be on and when he would be arriving home. Cassie was my 'go to' person. All the 'big wigs' from the companies spoke to me through her, which I'd been finding quite overwhelming to deal with. Cassie even took me to the bank to sort out our loans and joint account.

"I would also need a lawyer to finalise Jordan's estate, and they were able to recommend lawyers to do so. Cassie came with me to my initial meeting with the lawyers in Perth and was able to support me and talk me through anything I didn't understand. She was also able to orchestrate my move back to NSW, engaging removalists and car transport. The initial three weeks following Jordan's unexpected death was hectic and scary to say the least, and I can only imagine what it would have been like if it wasn't for the support Miners' Promise provided me with.

"Saying I am grateful for the assistance and support doesn't seem adequate. What Miners' Promise has done for me goes beyond help, knowing things were taken care of allowed me to concentrate on my grief and to raise my daughter."
