SUMMER Dog Sled ADVENTURES

Home of 2004 Iditarod Champion Mitch Seavey
and 2011 Yukon Quest Champion Dallas Seavey

Chosen as one of Alaska's Top 20
Attractions!

Meet the Seaveys FOUR GENERATIONS OF MUSHERS!

Mitch Seavey is one of the world's elite sled dog racers, having won the Iditarod race and nearly every other distance race in Alaska. His father, Dan, brought the family to Alaska in 1963 with a dream of mushing sled dogs. Dan helped found the Iditarod and still runs his beloved "retiree" dogs today. Mitch's sons Danny, Tyrell and Dallas share the love for the dogs, and have all run numerous Iditarod races.

Now after 48 years of mushing, four generations of our family live and train sled dogs in Alaska. We invite you to visit our kennel, meet our family (both human and canine), and go for a sled dog ride. But most importantly, come see why they love these dogs, and why these dogs love to run!
